

My Sharings

In this memorable ~~study~~ trip, it definitely opens my eyes and widens my horizons. I realise how big is the world and how small I am. The world is big to become multi-cultural. Apart from English, I also discover Spanish, Italian culture, etc from my new friends here. I am small that I still have ~~not~~ much more to find out about their culture and to discover more stunning views in the world.

In this trip, it opens my heart and let me become a more out-going person. I used to be very shy. But in these 2 weeks, the Spanish and Italian students were very active that influence me a lot. I started to communicate with them and tried not to be afraid. Then I can find that every one is willing to accept me actually. So I faced my fears and it is a really meaningful trip that I will never forget it! Most importantly, I will never forget my new friends, here!!
