

My Sharings

This was the first time I travel to other country without my family, so I have to be independent and therefore it is my most enjoyable and memorable trip.

We had a lot of free time to explore Brighton by our own. It's fresh and exciting to walk along the road that I don't know and to other places travel by public transport.

The most unforgettable memory was the time living with the host. We drank English tea every morning and play card games with the host mum and one of her sons. Once my friend and I even chat with them for almost an hour! Their family are full of joy and love. I really enjoy to stay with them in these days. Their sincere makes me touched.

In the second week of our trip, my group went to the Seven Sister's Country Park, there are a large area of grassland with lots of sheeps. It was super windy that day and we climb up the hills, enjoy the beautiful view. It was an amazing and incredible experience in a foreign country.

The whole trip was well-organised, there were visits to the centre of Brighton to walk along the little shops and visits to the country side such as Devil's Dyke and Seven Sister's Country Park. These memories will stay in my heart forever.
