Reflection

I didn't expect much as I honestly didn't know what to expect.

The day when we left Hong Kong was hard ~~expat~~ because I didn't want to leave my family as I'm used to seeing them everyday and not seeing them as much would be such a difference.

First day at the Oxford dorms were scary because I'm used to living dependantly on the people around me. This trip taught me independency as I had to cook, clean, wash stuff by myself.

I learned how very different is British culture with Hong Kong culture like in UK people would always greet each other and say thank you and such while people in Hong Kong would rather keep to themselves instead of interacting with others.

People in UK are also not used to eating rice as most of the food we've had was sandwiches and other types that didn't have rice.

So during my time there I've learned so much about the country and culture and how in just two weeks I've learned how to be independent.

Thank You:)
