Reflection

This is my second oversea study tour already but it is the first time I stayed in a country for two-weeks long, I experienced the most in this tour.

At first, I was quite shy to open a conversation between me and our host family, don't know what to say. With the help of the host, our relationship built up, from stranger become friends. Our host family is quite different from the others, they have no kids and pets in their house, only the mum and dad as their kids already graduated. However, we both have a great time meeting others everyday.

In school, my buddy is a kind-hearted person, who tell me things about their school and New Zealand. I was shocked when I saw their timetable. Students in onehunga high school have 5 periods lesson per day only while we have 9. Also they have to study fewer subjects than us. New Zealand has a relaxing lifestyle, awesome natural scenery, etc. I like this country more than Hong Kong where cars and tall commercial & residence blocks are.

I have learnt to be independent when with or without my parents' caring, this is a ability that a grown-up should have. Besides, be brave to meet and communicate with new friends. After coming to New Zealand, I met several friends at school, I have to be confident to talk with them.

As my birthday is on the 14th February, my host family celebrated it with me. That night, I received a present, a bar of chocolate. A rich dinner and a home-made chocolate cake was made. It was the most magnificent birthday I have ever experienced.

To sum up, this tour gave me an opportunity to experience different culture types, meet new friends and learnt skills that could help me in the future.

Thank You :)
