Reflection

First of all, thank you for providing such a convenient platform for us to have a chance to widen our sights and grasp what level we are at compare to other nations. In fact, this tour is very unforgettable to me as this is my first time being out of Asia.

The system of education here in NZ is quite different with HK. NZ use grade 9~13 rather than Form 1-6 to set up classes. Besides, they don't have Liberal Studies here but there's another unique subject named Social Studies which is similar to LS though including Geography, Ethics, Current Affairs and History. This subject is quite interesting as we can analyse things from different sides of stakeholders. Moreover, they got Digital & Media which is similar with ICT in HK. However, Digital & Media is more down-to-earth than ICT. From the Digital and Media lessons I had, I've been studying about social medias' information source, their positive and negative impacts and also the hidden risks about that rather than computer coding or something else more complicated. Last but not least, their English lessons focus more on literature but not grammars. They will read Shakespeare's poems, analyze the language features in passages and poems, and even create their own poem.

The atmosphere of lessons and schools is very free here. Students are allowed to switch on their mobile and bring their own devices. That is really different from school in HK.

The best moment of this tour must be the tour to the Auckland Museum and Auckland Zoo. I have learnt about a small part of Māori history, culture and lifestyle. After joining this tour, I have become a more independent student and more responsible on things by living without my parent.

Thank You :)
