

My Sharings

We had a substantial schedule for the whole trip. We visited a lot of museums in both France and Britian. These museums are really informative and impressive as it provided different themes in different centry. If I get a chance, I would like to visit here again.

During the trip, I also observated some interesting things. I discovered that there was several recycle bins, mainly collect glass, on every streets in both France and Britian. Also both French and British government promoted cycling instead of driving. It seems that the government have found some ways to change the lifestyle of French in a more environmental friendly way. The Hong Kong government deserves to learn this attitude.

Besides, I explored more local history by visiting tourist hot spot such as London bridge and Tower Bridge. There was a bloody story behind.

Never will I forget these happy and unforgettable experiences.
