

My Sharings

I had a very warm feeling when I met my leaders and teachers. They were very caring and nice. I know this would be a great journey.

I enjoy many of the places in the trip, but one thing to improve is that the dinner should be earlier in order to make us time for preparing and doing work at night. Australia is such a beautiful and big place. My eyes got starry as I saw fields and pieces of greenery. But the favourite place of mine is the peaceful in its lifestyle, not a specific place or anything. The words 'life in Australia' already makes you relaxed. Also, the cold weather made me think of America. They're so similar!

But then, I have to talk about feelings. So well, the most remarkable experience in this trip was raining in the desert when we were sand boarding! It was like red warning signal of HK! The rain was so cold and all my things, including my jacket, watch, socks, and shoes & clothes were all wet and filled with sand.

And the tent of where we were down at was collapsing. Everything was so incredibly untrue and they're in a rush. But then, we're alright now so we happy again!

The school we went to is very special. It does not have homerooms for students and they need to carry their bags the whole day!

Overall, the trip was very good and I liked it.
