

My Sharings

At first, I didn't want to join this study tour. But then, my friend and my parents suggest me to join because it is a meaning-ful trip, we can learn other countries' schools' teaching method and culture. Therefore, I have joined it.

This is my first time leaving Asia, and also the first time leaving my parents to go overseas. During the trip, I really miss my parents but fortunatelley we can call our parents. The school I went is Parramatta High School. My buddy is called Iris He, her parents are Chinese and she was born in Australia. This school is very different from our school: they only have five lessons per day but we have 9; they ~~have~~ don't have regular class but we have; they have some special subjects such as cooking and PDHPE while we don't. Overall, it is a great experience for me.

For the sightseeing part, we went to the Sydney Harbour, Power House Museum, Hunter Valley, Port Stephen,

Art Gallery, University of Sydney, etc. The most memorable thing is the sand boarding. While we are playing, it rained suddenly and everyone ran into a small tent which everyone got wet. All our clothes and shoes were full of sand. That's the funniest thing through the whole trip.

If there are another study tour, I may join it because I want to know more other countries' culture.
